

Practising Social Change

The practitioner's journal of The NTL Institute for Applied Behavioural Science

EDITION 02 IS OUT NOW!

Practising Social Change is the new, on-line practitioner's journal of The NTL Institute for Applied Behavioural Science in which the world-wide professional community of NTL members, associates and colleagues describe how reliable and emerging theories of learning and change come alive in the real world. It is a medium for practitioners who seek to work at their own developmental edge: curious, conceptual thinkers charged with supporting sustainable change in work relationships, in teams, in organisations, in communities, or in the larger society, and who may be able to learn from the experiences of others from across the globe.

The second edition of the journal is now available to subscribers. It is dedicated to the recent conference NTL hosted on 'The New OD', and includes articles from the international team of presenters who, together, created a very special, collaborative experience of learning and sharing for all who attended.

CONTENT	CONTRIBUTORS
Feature Articles:	Robert J Marshak , Senior Scholar in Residence, American University-NTL, Washington DC Gervase Bushe , Professor of Leadership and Organization Development at the Segal Graduate School of Business, Simon Fraser University, Vancouver, Canada Ken and Mary Gergen of the Taos Institute David Grant , Professor of Organisational Studies and Associate Dean (Research), Faculty of Economics and Business, The University of Sydney, Australia Cliff Oswick , Professor/Chair in Organisation Theory and Academic Dean for Law and Social Sciences, Queen Mary, University of London, UK Matt Minahan , member of the Board of Directors of the Organization Development Network
How To Get Going With....	Jane Magruder Watkins , an early innovator in the use of Appreciative Inquiry, describes how to get going with this method for creating change which seeks what is 'right' in an organisation.
Academics Corner:	Barbara Bunker , Professor Emeritus, Psychology, University at Buffalo, NY, provides 'A Short History of OD'.
Living In The Work	Edie Seashore , former president of NTL and co-founder of the AU-NTL masters' programme in Organization Development, describes the kind of life that can be lived in our work as scholar practitioners in the field of Applied Behavioural Science.
How About This?	Members of the NTL Global Community of Practice address the question of ' How to foster participative thinking between people who have to work together across time and distance '.
Reflections	A regular column by NTL Emeritus Member, John D Carter .
Past Master:	Charles Seashore , Faculty Member of the Human Organization Development Department, Fielding Graduate University, and President of the Lewin Centre, describes the life and work of founding NTL member, Kurt Lewin .

How to subscribe: Practising Social Change is available to graduates of the UK NTL OD Certificate Programme at a reduced fee of $25.00 per annum which includes a $100 discount voucher that may be redeemed against the cost of any NTL programme the subscriber attends during 2011. To subscribe, email the editor at editor@ntl-psc.org quoting discount code UKODCP.

We hope you enjoy our new journal!